DETAILED ACTION

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species in figures 1 and 4 and the species in figure 2 and the species in figure 3. The species are independent or distinct because claims to the different species recite the mutually exclusive characteristics of such species. In addition, these species are not obvious variants of each other based on the current record.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claims 1 and 8 are generic.

There is an examination and search burden for these patentably distinct species due to their mutually exclusive characteristics. The species require a different field of search (e.g., searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries); and/or the prior art applicable to one species would not likely be applicable to another species; and/or the species are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

The election of the species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the election of species requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected species.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the species unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other species.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Art Unit: 3652

Regarding claims 1, 7, 8 and 14, these claims set forth a desired result, i. e., independent movement of the camera and light source and/or varying degrees of freedom, but no structure to provide these result and are thus incomplete. Also note “filed” in line 2 of claim 1 should be --field--.

Regarding claims 2-6 and 9-13, these claims set forth elements in terms of operation rather than structurally defining and relating them. The claims should be rewritten to set forth the necessary elements and correlating these elements to define an operative device.

Further regarding claim 4, it appears the fourth adjusting device in this claim contradicts the function of the second adjusting device since claim 2 sets forth that the second adjusting device moves the camera and light source relative to common base 8 but claim 4 sets forth that the fourth adjusting device moves the camera and tool relative to a common base. In summary claim 2 appears to be directed to the species in figure 1 and claim 4 to the species in figure 2.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Shatto, Jr. in view of Pryor.

Art Unit: 3652

Shatto, Jr. comprises tools 25 and 28 and camera 36 and light 35 mounted on pedestal 37, 38. Shatto, Jr. also sets forth that lights 35 and camera 36 are remotely controlled by an operator. See Shatto, Jr., column 3, lines 11-29.

Pryor teaches moving camera 12 and lights 11 separately. See Pryor, the paragraph bridging columns 3 and 4 and the arrows adjacent camera 12 in figure 1.

It would have been obvious to mount either or both the camera and light in Shatto to be separately moveable in view of the teaching in Pryor. This could be done on the pedestal in Shatto or on separate pedestals as in Pryor.

Regarding claim 2, note second adjusting device 38 in Shatto, Jr.
